

THINK

LEGAL TECH

UGent Legal Techathon Launch

Friday November 9 2018 - 16:00 - Academieraadzaal, Voldersstraat 9, Ghent

Think Legal Tech

Join us for this open event and be inspired about how technology can help to solve legal problems. Legal tech is still in its early stages in Belgium, which is why we invited two innovative minds to help you to discover the opportunities.

Pieter Gunst studied a Master of Law at Ghent University, followed by a Master in Law, Science & Technology at Stanford University. He now lives in San Francisco where he started his own company legal.io that develops a decentralized platform for legal services delivery.

Jurgen Ingels is a serial Fintech entrepreneur. You might know him from the Leeuwenkuil, as an organizer of the SuperNova conference that recently took place in Antwerp, but he is best known as founder of Clear2Pay. Clear2Pay was a payments technology company providing payment and payment-related solutions for financial institutions and their clients. It was sold to FIS in 2014.

The event is free and open for everyone, but registration is required via <https://thinklegaltech.eventbrite.com>

This event is the kick-off of our UGent Legal Techathon: a unique bootcamp where students use technology to solve legal problems and where they go from problem to proof of concept in only 36 hours!

This event was made possible thanks to the support of

KnopsPublishing

Program

16:00 Welcome and introduction
Rik Van de Walle,
Rector of Ghent University

Michel Tison,
Dean of the Faculty of Law and Criminology

Pieter Gunst
Lawyering in the age of robots

Jurgen Ingels
To be or not to be an entrepreneur... that's the question

Introduction of UGent Legal Techathon

17:30 Networking reception

19:00 End of event